CONSTRUCTION HISTORY

Construction history began in the early 70's with a background including work in the residential, commercial and multi-family construction.

Design work has also been provided in all areas with working relationships with several designers, architects, architects and engineers who have provided outstanding service to our customers.

Years of working and teaching in the field of construction and industrial technology provides our customers with some of the best informed construction consultants available.

POOL CONSTRUCTION HISTORY

Construction in the pool industry started a little later in the 70's due to the inability to identify quality pool builders to satisfy our construction needs.

Since that time both residential and commercial pools have been built in this area with The highest quality and workmanship.

Specialty pools for people with special needs have been constructed for various owners. Pools with enclosures have been designed and built for others to provide a year round swimming environment for health and recreation.
